President Ford's Speech Before Commercial Convention.

KENTUCKY MUST FORGE TO FRONT.

World's Fair at St. Louis Next Year Offers the State the Opportunity of a Century to Show All the People of the Earth What She Really Is.

During the recent State Commercial convention held in Louisville, one session was devoted exclusively to the work being done by the Kentucky Exhibit Association for adequate representation of the state at the World's Fair in St. Louis. The speech delivered by the President of the Association, Mr. A. Y. Ford, managing editor of the Courier-Journal, was "so full of eloquent facts, so eloquently spoken," as Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge expressed it later in the evening, that we have decided to give it to our readers. In part it is as follows:

The movement for a creditable representation of Kentucky at the great World's Fair, which is to mark the Centenary of the Purchase of the Louisiana Territory, appeals both to business interest and to patriotic sentiment.

It appeals to business interests, because no community more than Kentucky needs to have itself properly advertised to the world, not only for the correction of that false reputation into which it has been brought by persistent and long-continued misrepresentation, but because, at this particular juncture in the material development of the country, it finds an unusual opportunity and a pressing necessity to demonstrate to the world of capital and of homeseekers the superior advantages which it offers as an undeveloped State, in which all the essentials of profitable development are to be found.

It appeals to sentiment, because the Kentuckian's characteristic pride in the achievements of the founders of the Commonwealth can find in all the long, illustrious story nothing more fit to inspire it than the part which the men of this State have played in that marvelous national drama of expansion, of which the Louisiana Purchase was a part.

How could Kentucky forego her claim to a share in the glories of a region at whose birth into the Union she stood sponsor, created a part of this household of liberty through her instrumentality, peopled largely by her sons, bound to her by the tenderest ties of blood and interest—all in all one of the very richest of the jewels in her crown of Statehood.

But perhaps it is more in keeping with the spirit of an occasion like this to put sentiment to the rear and business considerations to the fore. We hold that Kentucky should be at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition:

Because it has suffered inestimable injury from malicious misrepresentation;

Because it needs to be advertised to the world by something else besides its mountain feuds and its bitter politics;

Because it has been caricatured too long in the general ideal formed of it and deserves to be taken seriously. We like a joke all right, but we don't want it rubbed in too hard;

Because it is an undeveloped State, needing the good-will of investors and homeseekers and having that to offer them that will endure and repay investigation;

Because now is the time of times for putting ourselves right and keeping ourselves right before the business world, while this tremendous tide of material development is at its flood and men are seeking on every hand for profitable fields of activity;

Because, through ignorance of our own resources or indifference to them, through lack of enterprise in presenting information about them to those who seek it, we have suffered ourselves to be outstripped as an industrial community by states that could not compare with us in natural advantages.

I know of no State that stands more in need of a protest in the name of truth than Kentucky. I know of no State that has been more persistently and unjustly maligned than Kentucky. I know of no State that has more supinely endured such misrepresentation, recklessly giving fresh occasion for it and careless of its opportunities for displaying its better side.

I am not an apologist for that which is wrong with us, and there is much in present conditions for which we should frankly take shame to ourselves, but the very existence of such things but emphasizes the necessity that we should be up and doing in the cause of our own redemption, to the end that these early glories of the State of which we boast so much may not be dimmed and derided or its future hampered by our duty. No community more than an individual should be oversensitive to just criticism, but unchecked misrepresentation, long enough continued, makes reputation and it has made for us a reputation that has formed a barrier to the proper development of the State. It is a thing to be denied and rebuked with earnestness and dignity at every opportunity, not only as a matter of State pride but as a matter of State welfare.

In all the long roll-call of States not one important State will be missing, not one that can lay any claim to rank as an enterprising Commonwealth. Not one whose growth in wealth and population attests its energy and progressive spirit. There will be aligned the States that stand for progress, for enlightenment, for education, for leadership.

Shall Kentucky eliminate herself from such a company and say to the world that we not only repudiate the work our fathers did in the cause of national expansion, but that we do not care to be ranked among the enterprising States, that we are wedded to our idols and only want the busy world to stand out of our sunlight and let us alone with our mountain feuds, our political quarrels, our undeveloped wealth? That we don't want to be disturbed by the screech of factory whistles, that we don't want locomotives scaring our horses; that we don't want factories spreading soot over the landscape; that we'll keep our coal and our iron and our lead and zinc and fluorspar where they are, for we don't want unlighty holes dug in the ground? What do we care if men with money to invest pass us by for more hospitable States? What do we want with new population; it might complicate the political situation. What need have we for electric traction lines? We've got one or two and the old carry-all will do for a while longer with a new spoke or two and an extra wrap on the shaft, when the roads are not too bad.

Men of Kentucky, that is the verdict that our indifference to this opportunity would both invite and justify, and it is a verdict that would belie the State and its people. We have a few mossbacks yet, for I doubt not there were even thorn bushes in the Garden of Eden. We have people left who are comfortable only when jogging along in the well-worn ruts.

A reasonable State pride is well enough, but a State pride that does not express itself in enlivening deeds is a hybrid thing, mere flourish and strut and silly pretense, gaining nothing but ridicule, and I fear that with some of our good people State pride has ossified into mere self-complacency, with the conviction that whatever is all right and that any suggestion of improvement is a suggestion of disloyalty.

And yet there is work to be done. For Kentucky is an undeveloped State with rich resources, and whatever stands in the way of the development of those resources—whether it be unwise laws, whether it be our own ignorance of these resources, or whether it be indifference at home and ignorance and misconception abroad—must be swept aside.

With the largest known area of coking coal in the world, we produce only four-tenths of one per cent. of all the coke produced in the United States and, though we are now rapidly increasing our production, we yet rank only ninth as a coke producer, being in this respect outranked even by Massachusetts, which has no coking coal at all, but must bring it all from Nova Scotia.

With practically the same coal area as West Virginia, we mine annually only one-fourth as much coal. With twice the coal area of Alabama, we mine annually only about one-half as much coal.

With splendid timber at our very doors, we send it North to be made into furniture and other articles and be shipped back to us.

With a splendid stock raising country about us, the annual product of our butchering and meat packing establishments is little more than one-tenth that of Indiana.

With vast fields of natural oil, we are only just beginning to develop them and have as yet not a single petroleum refinery in the State.

With a large part of our State so thickly populated as to invite the construction of interurban traction lines, we have only three such lines in operation, with a total of less than 40 miles of track, while our neighboring State of Indiana is already a net-work of interurban lines.

With twenty-eight counties wholly untouched by steam railways and others that are barely skirted by them, we built only 152 miles of railway from 1800 to 1900 and in 1901 only 33 miles, though the total new construction in the South in the decade was 1,530 miles, and in the United States 4,453 miles.

With vast deposits of iron ore, we have declined as a producer of pig iron, and in 1901 produced only a pitiful 28,000 tons, against Alabama's more than 1,200,000 tons. Yet twenty-five years ago the pig iron production of the two States was about equal.

In iron and steel manufactures, though our actual output has increased, our rank among the States has declined from seventh in 1870 to eleventh in 1880 and thirteenth in 1900, though we have improved our rank in the past ten years, having stood only sixteenth in 1890. In spite of the natural resources and advantages that should make us a great iron and steel State, we are out-ranked by such States as Maryland, Indiana and New Jersey, which can not compare with us in such advantages.

With vast deposits of the finest clays, whose value is becoming known to the trade and which we are at last, especially in Eastern Kentucky, beginning to appreciate and to develop, we still rank no better than fourteenth as a producer of clay products. Our improvement is shown by the fact that we ranked only twenty-second in 1890.

After having been all this time in ignorance of the fact that we had valuable deposits of lead and zinc and fluorspar, we are just beginning the profitable development of these deposits—material that the commercial world needs and will pay a good price for.

With all the facilities and advantages that invite profitable manufacturing we have only within the past few years begun to make real progress as a manufacturing State. In all the essentials of abundant and accessible raw materials, cheap and inexhaustible fuel, splendid transportation facilities, nearness to great markets, being within a short distance of the center of population, cheap and intelligent labor, and favorable climate, we yet rank only eighteenth as a manufacturing State.

I cite these facts in no spirit of deprecation, but in support of my statement that Kentucky is an undeveloped State. I cite them in no spirit of discouragement, but rather to indicate the splendid field in which we have to labor and the possible results that wait only upon our will. I cite them in no spirit of disloyalty to the State we love, but rather because I would see it make greater haste toward that goal of material prosperity that is so easily within its reach.

I do not believe that I overestimate either the value of this Exposition as a place for exploiting our State, or the necessity of thus advertising it. In this I am vindicated by the judgment of many Kentucky firms, which will spend thousands of dollars upon exhibits to advertise their own enterprise. I am vindicated also by the fact that every civilized nation on earth is preparing to be represented and that Florida seems likely to be the only one of all our own States and territories that is not alive to the opportunity. You will observe that I am counting Kentucky in the list of progressives, for Kentucky must be there. It is to be the largest World's Fair yet attempted, covering nearly twice the area of the Chicago World's Fair, and backed by nearly $20,000,000 of capital. Conditions lay upon Kentucky the most urgent injunction to make the most of the opportunity here afforded to put before the world her invitation to those men of brain and brawn and capital who build up the industries of a great State.

It is the purpose of the Kentucky Exhibit Association to extend that invitation in a practical way—to demonstrate by striking displays and by every possible means of information the commercial value of Kentucky's resources and its advantages as a location for commercial and industrial enterprises.

ANGRY WHALE DRAGS BOAT.

Big Fish Becomes Tangled in Nets and Puts Two Massachusetts Fishermen in Peril.

Capt. Horace Hillman, an Edgartown fisherman, has been towed by a mad-dened whale many miles out to sea, at a speed rivaling that of a fast express train. The captain and Manuel Correiro, a Portuguese sailor, were in the catboat Thelma, examining nets off the southern shore of No Man's Land, south of Martha's Vineyard, Mass.

Suddenly a finback whale leaped out of the water within ten feet of the Thelma and brought down his immense tail with a fearful swing. The boat rocked violently and both men were thrown prostrate. Then the whale started out to sea, fouling the lines which attached the nets to the boat, and towing the Thelma seaward.

Correiro was buried under a heap of nets. Capt. Hillman was stunned by his fall, but regained his feet, and attempted to release the Portuguese, but was unable to do so. He estimates that the whale towed the Thelma at a speed of 30 miles an hour. So fast did the boat tear through the sea that torrents of water poured over the broad, flat stern, and he was forced to bail continuously to keep the small craft from being swamped.

To add to the gravity of the situation, a squall approached from the south, and Hillman was obliged to bail with one hand, while with the other he fumbled with the halyards and downhaul. Finally, by almost superhuman effort, he managed to lower the sail, but it was impossible for him to furl it. A few minutes later the squall struck the Thelma and she was thrown almost on her beam ends.

After being towed for four hours the Thelma was freed. Capt. Hillman thinks that the whale must have slackened its speed and dived. The captain was two days in bringing the Thelma back to port.

MAY EXCLUDE GERMAN WINES.

This Country to Strictly Enforce the Anti-Adulteration Food Clause.

Government officials will not be surprised if European countries will retaliate upon the merchants of this country as a result of the rigid enforcement of the anti-adulteration clause of the agricultural appropriation act passed at the last session of congress. It is the determination of the agricultural and treasury departments to enforce this act, and the state department has agreed to cooperate with them to carry out the terms of the new law.

Officials say the test case will be based upon the importation of adulterated German Rhine wines. The state department has received from the agricultural department a request for a copy of the record of the proceedings in the case of Dr. Schnape von Hope, one of the largest wine-makers in Nierstein, who has been tried in Germany for adulterating wine. A great deal of this wine comes to America, and the agricultural and treasury departments wish to secure the legal evidence upon which it may be excluded. The state department therefore has transmitted to the United States consul at Mayence a request for a copy of the records.

It has been alleged by the champions of the anti-adulteration act that the German law does not prevent indiscriminate and wholesome adulteration of foods and wines provided they are not to be consumed in Germany, and very careful inquiry is to be made into the proof of this statement, though it must be said that the officials here place little credence in it. If, however, it should be well founded, based upon the consul's report, considerable additions will be made to the list of forbidden imports.

PERSONAL.

—Mr. W. H. Means is spending the week at Bowman Springs.

—Mrs. F. S. Andrews, of Findlay, O., is visiting her sister, Mrs. M. C. Russell.

—Miss Ethel Jones, of Hillsboro, is the guest of Miss Amy Garnett of Forest avenue.

—Friends of Miss Carrie Hays are in receipt of letters announcing her safe arrival in Europe.

—Mrs. I. F. McKee, of Columbus, O., is visiting her mother, Mrs. T. F. Stephens, of Walnut street.

—Miss Jessie Ramey is home after spending a few weeks with friends at Carlisle and other points.

—Miss Amelia Hauck is visiting the Misses Pickett, of Morgantown, and the Misses Rapp, of Kenton, Ky.

—Miss Bessie Welsh, of Murphysville, is the guest of her aunts, Misses Margaret and Rose Quinn, of "Elmwood."

—Mrs. John Helmer and daughter, Miss Lulu, will leave Tuesday morning for Sidney, O., to visit Mrs. Henry Devore.

—Little Miss Ruth Tierney, of Washington, is the guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Gantley, of Lewisburg.

—Rev. F. M. Tindler and son, Louis, are among the Kentuckians attending the big Christian Endeavor convention at Denver.

—Miss Florence Alrich, after visiting friends here, has returned to her home in Pittsburgh, accompanied by Misses Julia Steers and Marie Rains.

—Mrs. H. Lloyd Watson and children, John Robert and Maria Louise, of New York City, will arrive this afternoon to spend some time with relatives.

—Yutaka Minakuchi and bride who were married Thursday at Blue Lick Springs, drove to Mayeville and boarded a C. and O. train for Cincinnati.

—Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Richie, of Covington, were called here by the serious illness of their son, J. Buford, who has been with his grandmother, Mrs. E. Breen, and other relatives several weeks.

For Sale.

Thirty-three choice lots in Culbertson. Terms, one-third cash, balance in six and twelve months. For price and particulars apply to Stanley Watson, Court street.

Poyntz Bros. are the only Maysville distillers selling pure liquors by the quart, gallon or barrel, direct from distillery to consumer. Seven-year-old whisky $2 per gallon. Age and quality guaranteed. Get the best. Office 126 Market street—Watson's old stand.

The big Pittsburgh towboat, James Moran, stopped here on her trip up a few days ago and bought about $100 worth of groceries, fresh meat, ice, milk &c., the purchase being made through Maysville's leading grocer, Mr. R. B. Lovel. This was the second purchase here by same steamer in two weeks. The steward volunteered the statement that he could get better goods in Maysville than he could in Cincinnati, and said he intended making his purchases here whenever he had the opportunity, and he also intended to talk up Maysville before the Towboat Stewards' Association of Pittsburgh. This speaks well for our city. There is no doubt Mayeville will hereafter enjoy an increasing trade from Ohio river steamers, and this will be largely augmented during the winter season by the construction of the ice harbor.

THE MARKETS.

Review of Trade in Live Stock and Tobacco the Past Week at Cincinnati.

Cattle—The market was slow and weak to barely steady every day. Good, light tidy butcher cattle were in fair demand, but that was about all. In a general way the market is 10a15c lower than a week ago, the bulk of good to choice butcher grades selling at $14.50. Stockers and feeders are almost neglected and milch cows are dull, none but the best selling except at a sacrifice.

Hogs—There were fair supplies and an active demand for hogs most of the week, but under the influence of lower Western markets prices declined about 20c during the week for all grades. Light hogs which are selling mainly at $5.50a5.90 are still 25c higher than fat hogs, which is a rather unusual condition.

Sheep—Best sheep are selling at $3.50a3.60, which is about 5a10c lower than a week ago, and lambs at $5.90a6 are about 35c lower. Receipts have been rather liberal and the easier prices are natural.

Tobacco—While the offerings and receipts have been comparatively light, the market has been a very satisfactory one to both shippers and buyers, and by long odds the best of the year. Shippers were pleased with the realizations, as shown by the very small proportion of rejections (a fraction less than 9 per cent., and which is the lowest in this or any other market in the past two years.)

Buyers were also pleased with the character and quality of the tobaccos, and the competition between the big combine buyers and the independent manufacturers was sharp and keen throughout.

The upward trend in prices and higher range in values which set in nearly two weeks ago was well maintained on all except the mixed and nondescript trashes and common smokers, which were somewhat irregular, although not notably lower.

STUDY OF SUICIDES.

Prof. Bailey, of Yale, Gives a New View of Self-Destruction.

Carefully Compiled Statistics Show 29,344 Cases in the United States in the Period from 1897 to 1901.

Suicide in the United States has been studied by Prof. William B. Bailey, of Yale, for a period covering the years 1897 to 1901. He has taken 29,344 cases and compiled the first set of exhaustive statistics ever prepared from the viewpoint of the authority on social science or political economy.

In order to take a more convenient unit 10,000 cases were taken by Prof. Bailey for computation in his statistics. Of these 7,781 were found to be males, 2,219 females, indicating that in general about 3½ males to 1 female commit suicide. Taken by age the figures show the following:

Years.	Total.	Males.	Females.
Under 20.....	636	359	296
20 to 30.....	2,261	1,692	669
30 to 40.....	2,381	1,831	550
40 to 50.....	1,874	1,693	281
50 to 60.....	1,316	1,122	194
60 to 70.....	808	725	83
70 and over.....	344	296	48
Unknown.....	381	283	98
Totals.....	10,000	7,781	2,219

This table shows that the most popular suicide period is between 30 and 40 years, followed closely by the period between 20 and 30 years. Nearly two-thirds of the suicides are found between the periods of 20 to 50 years.

It is found that the number of the married suicides exceeds that of those who are single. This table shows the relative proportions:

	Total.	Males.	Females.
Single.....	4,664	3,120	235
Married.....	4,867	3,817	999
Widowed.....	679	496	183
Divorced.....	198	137	62
Unknown.....	271	202	69
Totals.....	10,000	7,781	2,219

Another table prepared by Prof. Bailey shows that more single, widowed and divorced women commit suicide than men in like conjugal conditions, but that married men are more prone than married women to take their lives. According to Prof. Bailey this is probably due to the fact that the struggle for existence bears most heavily on the women who are trying to support themselves.

Shooting is found to be the favorite method of suicide, followed closely by poison. Almost exactly 60 per cent. of the cases of suicide are included under these two heads. More than 50 per cent. of the cases of drowning occur in the three summer months. In Maine hanging still leads as the most popular method. The cases of suicide by jumping, poison and gas are found to be confined principally to the cities. In the south shooting easily leads poison. The table summarizing these cases follows:

Method.	Total.	Males.	Females.
Shooting.....	3,247	2,580	267
Drowning.....	800	490	310
Poison.....	2,750	1,831	919
Cutting.....	810	636	115
Gas.....	662	469	200
Jumping.....	473	359	123
Hanging.....	952	750	202
Miscellaneous.....	302	219	83
Totals.....	10,000	7,781	2,219

WEARERS OF GOOD CLOTHES.

University of Chicago Professor Sharply Criticizes Their Pride and Ostentation.

People do not wear beautiful clothes just because they are beautiful or artistic or esthetic, but for the sake of making an ostentatious display, according to Dr. H. J. Davenport, professor of political economy in the University of Chicago.

In the course of a lecture before one of his classes on the subject of "Conspicuous Consumption" the professor took occasion to score all persons who wear beautiful clothes, the society people who ride about in red automobiles, and the members of the Salvation Army for their red-trimmed bonnets and caps. He declared that Robinson Crusoe was the only really unostentatious man who ever lived, and ended up by "knocking" the custom which university professors have of wearing caps and gowns with brilliant red and purple trimmings.

The professor compared red automobiles to thrashing machines. "Society people," he said, "would not care to sit on a thrashing machine all day where they could not hear themselves talk. Yet they will ride around all day in an ill-smelling automobile exchanging admiration for conversation and comfort."

The life of modern leather made by the use of sulphuric acid, is but 15 years. This makes it necessary for the British museum to spend $20,000 a year in renewing leather book bindings.

Speakers of Irish.

Irish is to-day the living tongue of almost as many people as speak Welsh, Greek, Serbian, Bulgarian, Norwegian or Danish. In Galway alone are 17,828 persons who can speak nothing but Irish.

"LEST WE FORGET."

The Lexington Leader (Republican) in a recent issue in which it was discussing the Breathitt County situation, made the following most unfortunate allusion to what was done at Frankfort when Senator Goebel was assassinated:

"When Senator Goebel was shot to death in the streets of Frankfort during that memorable struggle of 1900, the machinery of the law was set in motion before his prostrate body had been lifted from the street, and every energy was exhausted and every avenue of escape by which the cowardly assassins could flee was dammed up so effectually that almost every suspect was behind the bars very soon after the shot had been fired."

Replying to this the Winchester Democrat says:

"Lest others have forgotten, we desire to state that when Wm. Goebel was shot down in front of the State Capitol every State office was in the hands of a Republican. The shot was fired from the private office of the Secretary of State, and Caleb Powers claimed to be holding that office. W. S. Taylor was in an office not forty feet away in the same building. Instead of every avenue of escape by which the cowardly assassins could flee being dammed up, the truth is that every avenue of approach to the building that contained the cowardly assassins "was dammed up so effectually" by soldiers and mountain outlaws, that the law officers of Franklin County could not enter and search the building.

The Bulletin Believes in Publicity

And always tries to make the announcements that appear in its columns pay advertisers. It also believes in frequent changes, and has often urged merchants to be more particular in this respect. Heretofore there has been no limit to the number of times new copy could be offered by users of fixed space, but, not more than TWO changes will be allowed in any one week. Some advertisers do not find it convenient or necessary to make even so many, but most others think a change every three days sufficient to keep their statements fresh. However, should anyone desire their ads set up more frequently, the BULLETIN will be glad to do the work at an extra charge to the advertisers of the actual cost of composition.

Beginning From This Date,

Maysville Papers Are More Liberal

in this respect than many other dailies in cities of same population. We have taken some pains to ascertain the number of changes allowed in other places and find that ONCE a week is usually the maximum limit unless price of composition is added to the rate charged, but the BULLETIN will be more liberal and permit two as announced above.

Let's Take a Trip!

You are, no doubt, debating in your mind about a trip to the sea shore, Lake Chautauqua, Thousand Islands, Niagara Falls, or some other resort. This certainly would be delightful. But, the question comes up: Can I afford it? Well, if you cannot afford that pleasure, come with me and take a drive out (in our minds) on the Germantown road, when the shades of evening are casting their shadows upon the city and the lake-like waters of the beautiful Ohio. Or go behind a spirited animal, furnished by any one of our local liverymen, and let us drive out the Fleming pike and hear the birds sing and see nature in her happiest mood. Should you prefer, let us get an automobile (a borrowed one) and spin out the Lexington road and return by the "lovers' lane" (the Hill City pike). Then rejoice that we have within easy access the most beautiful scenery in the world.

Within the city limits of Maysville there are homes for sale (I have them) that are most delightful and can be bought cheap. Buy one and be happy.

In the county of Mason there are farms for sale (I have them). Buy one and then go to work to make it the most attractive home in the world. Then be happy whether at home or abroad.

Duchess LACES

We received Saturday a new lot, awfully pretty styles. Our Mr. E. Merz, who is in New York, writes that they are "up to the minute style." Come and see if you agree with him. 10c., 12½c., 15c. and 19c. per yard.

Imitation Cluney,

White and linen color, and different widths. And prices low in fact our retail price is as low as Cincinnati wholesale price, but of course Cincinnati is not a fair example. 19c. to 29c. are the best sellers.

Back Combs at 10c.

If our buyer had not been on the spot the price would be 19c., but as long as this lot last they are yours for 10c. We have the happy faculty of being on the right spot at the right time.

SHOES

Some people think that because we only keep good shoes and shoes that we guarantee that the price is always high. IT'S NOT SO. We have slippers and oxfords from $1.50 up. Under a $1.50 we haven't found any to suit us. Shoe salesmen say we are hard to please, must not be so particularly with cheap shoes. They don't know how hard we work for your interest. Some day the manufactory will turn out a slipper for $1.25 that we can recommend. When they do we will have it here, but until then we will keep on selling from $1.50 up. We buy the shoe first and then see that the price is right. And the same way we sell.

WILLSONITES WON.

But a Strong Fight Was Put Up Against Their Man.

Lively Times at the Republican Convention Saturday—Motion to Instruct For Dearing Tabled.

The Republican mass meeting Saturday afternoon to select delegates to the State convention July 15th was almost as torrid, at times, as the temperature in which the faithful sweltered. The turning down of that old wheelhorse of the party, Major Hutchins, who has been "a Republican from the time he could think," made the Major hotter than the weather, and he made a vehement speech opposing instructions for Willson, or any one else. He was after victory and wanted the delegates to go uninstructed so they could support the most available man.

County Chairman William D. Cochran called the convention to order at 2 o'clock. O. G. Callahan placed A. D. Cole in nomination for Chairman of the meeting, while Elder T. P. Degman was nominated by W. W. Gault. Inquiry from Chairman Cochran brought out a statement from Mr. Gault that he named Mr. Degman in the interest of Augustus E. Willson for Governor. Mr. Cochran then asked in whose interest Mr. Cole had been nominated. This raised the ire of Major Hutchins, who arose to a point of order, insisting that Mr. Cochran was exceeding his duties in making such inquiries. The Major emphasized his remarks by a resounding whack on the table, but the Chair ruled his point no good, saying he simply wanted the convention to vote intelligently in electing a Chairman. On a question of personal privilege, Mr. Cole addressed the convention saying the mention of his name was a surprise to him, but that if the convention saw fit to honor him, he would preside in the interest of no individual or faction. On a division of the house, Mr. Degman was declared elected, and the organization was completed by the election of Editor Davis, of the Ledger, and Editor Curran, of the Dover Messenger, and Mr. Wm. H. Lynch as Secretaries.

On motion of W. D. Cochran, the convention endorsed the record of Hon. W. H. Cox as State Senator from this district. Mr. Cochran then offered a resolution naming a list of delegates to the State convention and this was adopted without discussion.

Mr. Cochran next offered a resolution that the delegates named or such of them as may be present be instructed for Hon. Augustus E. Willson for Governor and use all honorable means to secure his nomination. Mr. Cole offered an amendment that the delegates be also instructed for W. G. Dearing, of Flemingsburg, for Attorney-General. A motion to lay this amendment on the table was adopted, notwithstanding Mr. Cole's earnest pleadings for Mason County Republicans to stand by their neighbor. He said he knew Mr. Dearing, though he had not announced his intentions yet, was a receptive candidate for the Attorney-Generalship, but his pleadings fell on deaf ears, and Fleming's erstwhile Democrat was rejected in the house of his new political friends.

Mr. Charles C. Degman, Major Hutchins and Mr. Cole then made a hot fight against the resolution instructing for Willson. Mr. Degman thought the convention was making a mistake. He believed Mr. Willson was not the strongest man by several thousand votes, and he wanted the delegation to go uninstructed. Major Hutchins prefaced his remarks with the statement that he had been left off the delegation, and he knew why. He had been "a Republican since he could think," and he was opposed to the delegation going to Louisville "tagged and labeled." This thing of instructing for Willson was only a matter of sentiment. He had elements of weakness and should not be named. Mr. Cole thought it would be a reflection on the delegates to instruct them for anyone. Judge Cochran and Editor Davis made earnest speeches in favor of the resolution. Prof. T. Augustus Reed tried to pour oil on the troubled waters by suggesting that a man be named as second choice of the convention, but the Willsonites wouldn't have it, and the resolution was adopted.

Mr. Cochran next offered a resolution instructing the delegates for J. B. Wilhoit, of Boyd County, for Lieutenant Governor and the convention then adjourned.

Following is a list of the delegates.
W. H. Wadsworth, J. C. Kirk, J. Clinger, H. C. Sharp, Scott Fletcher, F. Devine, T. A. Reid, T. A. Davis, J. D. Rummans, Sam Shafer, S. T. Hickman, C. W. Howard, J. T. Short, B. G. Grigsby, W. W. Gault, Beecher Holiday, W. T. Fristoe, Abe Whaley, Ad. Lewis, Rufus Dryden, L. G. Maltby, C. F. Fitt, C. Grimes, J. Hicks, Allen Fields, W. H. Cox, Clarence Mathews, Charles Biggers, R. T. Watson, C. C. Degman, O. P. Cox, H. J. Cochran, Nat Langhorn, Oliver Greenlee, J. L. Chamberlain, Jacob Thomas, E. O. Collins, R. Ficklin, B. Zell, F. G. Brady, Henry Ort, F. M. Dunham, L. McPheeters, Mike Hefflin, Robert Toup, J. C. Rogers, C. A. Walthers, A. F. Curran, C. M. Devore, J. A. Ross, Harry Bell, Wm. Hunter, W. L. Gault, C. B. Davis, J. Simons, R. G. Bullock, Charles Gault, Charles Harris, O. G. Callahan, T. P. Degman, Thomas Maher, Logan Marshall, M. S. McLean, C. K. Hill, W. H. Davis, John Johnson, Pat Sammons, James Collins, W. D. Cochran, Geo. Rhodes, J. C. Stevenson, Welburn Rees, Willis Coleman, W. H. Paynter, T. H. N. Smith, Wheeler Rasp, J. T. Smith, C. C. Hopper, Cassilian Williams, P. D. Wells, F. H. Bierbower, W. E. # If in Need of a PUMP,

We advise you to buy either the I. X. L. Patent Galvanized Steel Chain Curb and Galvanized Steel Tubing, or the Cypress Rubber Bucket. Both are good ones and we sell lots of them. The I. X. L., being constructed entirely of steel, costs a little more than the other kind, but the difference in price is more than made up in satisfactory service and long life. It always pays to buy the best of everything, and Pumps are no exception to the general rule.

Some Points of Superiority of the I. X. L.

It does not make the water taste as wood tubing does, and, being made of the very best galvanized steel, will not rust, rot or accumulate filth, and leaves the water clear and pure. It is anti-freezing, as a small hole in the reservoir allows the water to run out. Only weighs a half pound to the foot, while water-soaked wood tubing weighs six.

The Lynching Mania. (Times-Star.)

The lynching mania in this country has attained frightful proportions. It will probably take more than one fearful lesson of the Evansville type to teach the people of Indiana and other States that it is absolutely essential to the preservation of our civilization that law and order be maintained at all costs, and that lynch law, which has come to so seriously threaten our institutions, be put down once and for all, at no matter what cost.

ALL KINDS OF FIRE

With a good Gas Range you can cook your soup over a slow fire, which it needs, and your roast over a quick fire, and both at the same time. How can you do this anyother way than with a GAS RANGE?

Gas Ranges At Factory Cost Price!

Never was such another opportunity afforded you to obtain so much value for the same money. During the month of June the Gas Company will, if so desired, make a written agreement with any purchaser of a Gas Range to the effect, that, if on the first day of August, said purchaser shall have become dissatisfied with the use of their Range, either for the reason that it will not do the work as represented, or that it costs too much to operate, then the Gas Company will take back the stove and refund any money paid upon its purchase price. The only thing to prevent you taking advantage of this offer is that the Ranges are sold quicker than they can be connected up, so if you are thinking of buying one, now is the time to decide. Over twenty installed during May and not a single complaint. For further particulars see the Gas Company and sample Ranges at Langfels & Co.'s.
